First Top Flight Scramble Takes Off At Paso Robles Golf Club

PASO ROBLES— The First Annual Estrella Top Flight Scramble was held at Paso Robles Golf Club on Saturday June 25. This benefit attracted local competitors as well as Estrella members and guests.

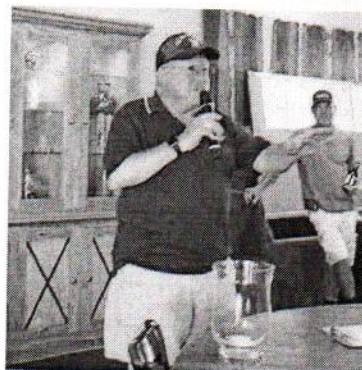

Our Committee, headed by Mike Levine and staffed by seasoned "pros" Betty Miller, Sue Dollemore, Margi Bauer, Dr. Jill Thayer and "rookie" Steve Lochen, were joined by Peter Snyder, and Karen Flynn to sign players in and oversee the entire day.

The winning foursome carded a score of net 57. The winners each earned 2 bottles of Ventuex Vinyards fine wines, courtesy of EWM VP, Scott Steizle.

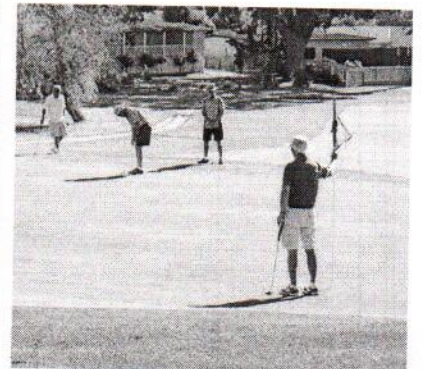

Several players came close to making a hole-in-one on #17 and missed the opportunity to drive home a new Ford Edge, courtesy of sponsor Paso Robles Ford. A big thanks to Mike Brabenec and PRGC!

Gift Shop Re-Name Now Official

The Estrella gift shop is now the Jackie Brooks Memorial Gift Shop. This new sign (right) was designed by our own Jill Thayer and presented to Estrella by Ron Brooks in fond remembrance of Jackie. Her dedication to Estrella is evident each day in the vast array of diverse items that make up a treasure trove of souvenirs and gift items artfully displayed in that beautiful space.

Deep Space Comes to Thompson Hall On Wednesday August 3

Guest Speaker—Mr. William O'Neil

Mr. O'Neil will give us a fast-paced overview of Jet Propulsion Lab's lunar and planetary robotic missions. He participated in several missions including the first soft landings on the moon and the Galileo tour of Jupiter. His presentation will include slides of the spacecraft and ground systems that executed these missions, as well as the historic and spectacular images from the missions themselves.

His assignments at Jet Propulsion Lab's have included missions to the Moon, Jupiter and its moon Europa, planet Mars and asteroids Gaspra and Ida. These projects have familiar names like Surveyor and Galileo.

He has been honored with NASA's highest award—the Distinguished Service Medal—for his management of Project Galileo.

Bill and his wife, Diane, moved to Atascadero from the Los Angeles area in 2007.

See Something New?

Woodland Auto Display—You don't have to look too closely to spot yet another electric and eclectic edition to Woodland Auto Display. The neon sign is authentic, vintage Paso.

It hung for a long time outside what is now Pappy McGregor's on Pine Street, about 70 years ago.

According to Dick Woodland, Johnny Busi ran a fine tavern where many folks went for "lunch" once in a while.

Busi's was a real saloon. The juke box had "real music" in it too: Peggy Lee, Frank Sinatra and Julie London for instance. LIGHT ON meant Open. LIGHT OFF meant Closed. That very jukebox, by the way, also fell into Mr. Woodland's possession and was restored by our own Mr. Ron Brooks and his crew.

Next time you wander the Woodland Auto Display, stop and gaze at this remarkable piece of history. You may hear the sultry Julie London purring out saucy lyrics to an old favorite, like "Cry Me A River". Time for lunch! Johnny, make mine a double with olives. LIGHT IS ON!

Paso Robles—Another Freedom Flight took off from Paso Robles Airport on July 2, 2016 to help inaugurate the Paso Pops Night July 4th Celebration at Paso Robles Horse Park.
